PART I. EDUCATION POLICY

It has been said by many of the greatest leaders in America, that the public school is always at least a generation behind the needs of society. Probably the chief reason for this condition is that social problems do not get serious attention until they become acute. In searching for an agency that may be considered responsible for an unhealthy social condition it is common practice to decide that the public school is responsible and should do something about it. It is difficult for any of us to realize fully how tremendously rapid our modes of living are changing and what changes in our educational system are thereby needed. A few such changes are so obvious that it should be comparatively easy for us to see their implication. Only a generation ago nearly every rural boy and girl had to help enough with the work in and around the home to learn those manual skills that would be so useful all through life and to gain the physical development necessary for healthy living. Today few boys and girls even on farms have "chores" enough to do to permit them to acquire manual skill to any appreciable extent or to develop their muscular strength and coordination. No other agency is so well prepared to take over this responsibility as the public school and in many places it has been doing much along this line for a number of years. The schools of Barnstead should recognize the problem and gradually modify their program to meet the needs of boys and girls as those needs are found to exist. A careful study of the results of any of the eighth grade tests given each spring should convince anyone that a large percentage of the boys and girls leaving the local elementary schools are not capable of reaching a high standard in the command of fundamental academic knowledge as measured by their ability to spell words, place rivers and towns geographically, solve problems in arithmetic, and use correct English. Yet many of those scholastically slow pupils could readily learn to repair a clock, build a hen coop, make an omelet or crochet a table cloth if they had suitable instruction and an opportunity to practice. The progressive development of the Barnstead schools during the next decade will incorporate facilities for making the acquisition of such skills possible.

PART II. ADMINISTRATION AND ORGANIZATION

A. Special Music Supervision

A few years ago an informal vote taken at the district meeting instructed the school board to see what could be done about having special music instruction in the Barnstead schools. Your superintendent has kept that vote in mind but until this year has been unable to secure the services of a trained music supervisor. On November 30, this fall, Elizabeth Girardet of Pittsfield, a graduate of the music supervisor's course of Keene Normal school, began her duties as supervisor of music in the Barnstead schools. Each Tuesday she visits each school and spends from thirty to forty minutes in each room. The pupils have profited greatly by this extra help and the budget for next year has been prepared with the idea of continuing the plan if possible. It is sincerely hoped that the voters will grant their approval.

B. Reorganization of Supervisory Union.

The cut by the 1937 legislature in the appropriation for the salaries of superintendents from $106,000 to $100,000 compelled the State Board of Education to reduce the number of superintendents and assistant superintendents from fifty-three to fifty. In order to do this several of the supervisory unions of the state were reorganized to absorb the dissolution of two unions. One assistant superintendency, that of Concord, was discontinued and the two unions dissolved were Plymouth and Wolfeboro. Wolfeboro and Tuftonboro are now in the Pittsfield union which now consists of the school districts of Pittsfield, Wolfeboro, Alton, Barnstead, New Durham and Tuftonboro, and is one of the largest in the state. About 1325 pupils are enrolled in the schools of the union and are under the immediate guidance of fifty-eight teachers and three school nurses.

PART III. INSTRUCTION

A. Teachers

There were no changes in the teaching force during the school year, but at the end of the year another teacher had to be found to take the place of Elizabeth Robinson, who resigned in late August to accept a position in the second grade in Epping. As the pupil population at the Parade increased to thirty-one just before schools were to open in September, it was decided to open the second room there. The following is a list of teachers for the present school year:

B. Textbooks

Three important steps have been made this year in the plan for the progressive improvement of the textbooks: (1) the series of extension readers in social science that had been put into use in the first grade has been extended into the second grade; (2) the first two books of a series of social science textbooks has been adopted for use in the third grade, and (3) a new set of textbooks in English that meets the recommendation of the National Council of Teachers of English has been adopted for use in grades three to eight. A committee of teachers has been working for some time on the selection of a suitable series of textbooks in health for grades four, five and six, and as soon as a decision can be reached the books will be ordered. Except for this one subject, health the Barnstead schools are now well equipped with basal textbooks. Plans for the future should provide for the broadening of the textbook offering in order that the pupils may have an opportunity to get more than one author's idea on the subject.

C. Eighth Grade Tests.

Standardized general achievement tests were given last May to all eighth grade pupils in the supervisory union. Of the 121 taking the tests, 44 equaled or exceeded the standard score. These 44 pupils were distributed as follows: Pittsfield 16 (out of 32 pupils), Alton 9 (out of 21), Barnstead 1 (out of 14), Farmington 12 (out of 48), and New Durham 0 (out of 6). The median score was 8.4 four months along in the eighth grade. This was four months below standard. The Pittsfield median was 8.8, exactly standard; the Alton median was 8.7, one month below standard; the Barnstead median was 9.0, two months above standard; Farmington 8.2, six months below standard, and New Durham 6.8, two years below standard. Twenty-eight of the 121 pupils showed achievement equal to or better than normal freshmen in high school (score 9.8 or better), forty showed achievement not above normal seventh graders, (score 7.8 or less), 8 were two years above standard (10.8 or better), 20 were two years below (6.8 or less), 2 were three years above (11.8 or better), and 4 were three years below (5.8 or less). One pupil, nearly sixteen years old, showed he had reached only the middle of the fourth grade in scholastic achievement.

Total estimated income (not raised by taxation)	$4,393.00

Assessment required to balance School Board's Budget	$8,889.00
---	------------

In an effort to make it a bit easier to understand the financial parts of this report, there has been included a statement of the expected expenditures for the present year, thus making it possible to tell from the report how the budget items for next year compare with the current year as well as with the past year. It is unfortunate that the state will not approve, for purposes of state aid, of two teachers at the Parade. This throws directly onto the tax payer a burden of about nine hundred dollars that would be borne by the state if about five more pupils were in attendance. In spite of this it does not seem advisable to crowd even twenty-nine pupils into one of the small rooms there so the budget for next year has been planned to continue the present arrangement.

PART V. SCHOOL PLANT

Two of the three major improvements mentioned in the last report have been attended to during the past year: (1) the replacement of the old chemical toilets at Beauty Hill by modern septic toilets, and (2) the replacement of the box stove in the Shackford's Corner school by a modern jacketed heater and ventilator. The other item mentioned, the unsanitary toilet facilities at Shackford's Corner, is still uncorrected. If the use of this schoolhouse is to be continued, these toilets should be put into decent condition as the health hazards are too serious to be condoned.

During the past school year the second room at the Parade was used as a supply room, but with the employment of two teachers there this year other supply storage facilities had to be provided. To solve this problem the old toilets at the Center were converted into a supply room which serves the purpose very well.

Considerable painting at the South and Center was done during the summer vacation.

Another step that has been taken in the progressive improvement of the school buildings is the installation of electric lights in the South Barnstead schoolhouse. Although the amount of light furnished by the new lights does not meet recommended standards, it does slightly exceed the minimum requirement. If somebody could only figure out a way of getting electric light companies to lower the rates on electricity for schoolhouses to the level of domestic rates, a great service would be rendered boys and girls, for the present commercial rates, which are applicable to schoolhouses, are so high as to prohibit the proper lighting of school rooms.

PART VI. CHILD ACCOUNTING AND STATISTICS

A. Promotions to High School

The following fourteen pupils were promoted to high school June, 1937: George Davis, Marjorie Emerson, Beatrice Gray, Grace Gray, Joseph Hillgrove, Albert MacPherson, Mildred MacPherson, Charlotte Marsal, Marilyn Parkey, Elizabeth Pitman, Arthur Stock, John Varney, Ada Wakefield, and Garfield Walker. All but one of these pupils entered high school last September

B. High School Pupils

Thirty-three Barnstead tuition pupils as compared with thirty-four last year and thirty-five the year before were enrolled in secondary schools last fall as follows:

Alton High School: Robert Carr, David Golden, Joseph Hillsgrove, Richard Kardinal, Charlotte Marsal, and Virginia Prescott.

Pittsfield High School: Roland Bunker, Elizabeth Clark, Ella Dame, George Davis, Marjorie Emerson, Ellena Foss, Mary Garland, Beatrice Gray, Beulah Gray, Dorothy Gray, Frank Gray, Grace Gray, Velna Gray, Lloyd Hanson, Alfred Jenish, Harold Kidder, Lloyd Kidder, Vilma Knirsch, Albert MacPherson, Mildred MacPherson, Donald Otis, Arthur Stock, Leonard Tasker, Paul Tasker, John Varney, Ada Wakefield, and Dean Whittier.

Of these thirty-three pupils two have already left school.

Probably about fourteen of the seventeen eighth grade pupils will enter high school next year.

C. Roll of Honor for Attendance

The following fifteen pupils, as compared with eleven last year, were neither absent nor tardy during the school year ending June 30, 1937: Robert Bunker, Roberty Cotton: (5) Ernest Davis, (3) Lucille Davis, (2) Marguerite Davis, Glendle Emerson, Lindy Foss, Barbara Gray, Margaret Gray, Reginald Gray: (2) Alma Heywood, (2) Warren Heywood, Arlene MacPherson: (3) Marjorie MacPherson, and (3) Marilyn Parkey.

A figure before a pupil's name indicates the number of consecutive years he has had perfect attendance.

PART VII. AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES AND SPECIAL REPORTS

A. Report of School Nurse

The general health of the Barnstead school children has been very good the past year. There were several cases of chicken-pox and measles reported last year and a few cases of mumps appeared this Fall. This Winter a small epidemic of scarlet fever confined to Beauty Hill has apparently been checked.

Hot lunches are being served in most of the schools. This has been found to be very beneficial to the children bringing their dinners. Added energy for school work is noticeable and a pleasing variety to the monotony of cold lunches day after day, helps the attitude toward all school activities.

A crippled girl, taken to Boston for special treatment more than a year ago, is still making progress, is able to walk for short periods every day and is enjoying the benefits of a school for crippled children, conducted by the Massachusetts Department of Education. Under this system the child has been able to complete the work from the third grade to Junior High, lost during the years she was confined to bed in Barnstead.

Great interest has been shown by the citizens of the town of Barnstead in the correction of physical defects. A dental clinic has been conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary for all children whose parents are interested in having their children's teeth put in good condition. The amount of work had to be limited to $2.00 per child, because it did not seem best to try to raise all the money needed to complete all the dental work for all the children. However at the very low clinic rates a large amount of work could be done for $2.00, so that 48 of the 85 children availing themselves of the opportunity, received certificates of completed work, while 37 still have more work to be done. Arrangements for these children to have their dental work completed at the same clinic rates but with parents paying the cost above the $2.00 limit already done for them are now being made and the continuation of the dental clinic will soon be possible. Dr. R. M. McLaughlin of Pittsfield, who has had wide experience in school dental clinic work, was engaged to do this work and was very successful in his handling of the children. The real value of this work will be lost unless it can be followed up annually. Following will be found a summary of the dental work accomplished and paid for by the American Legion Auxiliary:

Children done	85
Completed	48
Incomplete	37
Cost	$148.10
Cleanings	82

Fillings:

11 Porcelain
101 Silver
9 Zinc Oxide and Eugenol
15 Copper Amalgam
24 Cement
10 Silver Nitrate treatments

Extractions:

92 Temporary teeth

- 22 Permanent teeth
- 51 with novocain
- 60 with Ethyl Chloride
(local)
- 3 with gas (Nitrous
Oxide and Oxygen)

Following will be found a statistical report of the work done in the Barnstead schools last year:

Visits to schools	49
Visits to homes	174
Total visits	223
Days spent	26.4
Days due	26
Pupils examined	133
Defects found	146—1.0 per pupil
Defects corrected	38—26% of defects
Without defect	45—33% of pupils

I wish at this time to thank the people of Barnstead who are showing such interest in promoting the health of the school children and are co-operating financially and otherwise in the elimination of the remedial physical defects so rapidly.

B. Transportation

The following is a schedule of the transportation for the present year:
